can dreams: The sheer size of this bathroom was a pleasure to work with. The Moroccan theme was brought in to suit the ambience. A teakwood counter with a stone basin and switches added to the detailing. The niche and the window grill were especially designed to complement the theme. A seating for two was provided as an unexpected element, highlighted by a drop light. An antique tub was restored to act as the focal point of this bathroom.

ing zone: A neat space. The basin wall has been worked on as the focal point – it is the thing you see. The grey storage box below the basin also works as a design element. Grey tiles are used for the flooring while rectangular tiles are used in the wet area. POP in the dry area and niches have been incorporated for additional accenting.

Bright baths: This counter resembles a functional table complete with pull-outs for storage. The fixtures are concealed, lending it a neat look infused with warm colours. A ceramic ribbed basin, cane baskets for holding accessories and a plant bring in a homely feel to the bathroom. A blue hanging lamp and simple mirror complement the yellow decor.
